The Union Pacific Railroad Open 425 Miles.
A few weeks since we noticed the opening of the Union Pacific Railroad to Julesburg, 377 miles west of Omaha, and sometime this week we expect to report its completion to Crow Creek, a point 48 miles further west, making a total of 425 miles.

More of the Robbery of the Soldiers' Relief Fund.
During the pendency, in the House of Representatives of this State, of the bill to transfer eight hundred thousand dollars of the fund raised by taxation for the relief of indigent soldiers and for the starving families of those who fell in battle, Mr. Hill, of Defiance, on the 7th of January, 1866, is thus reported in the Statesman, at that date.

Little Feet.
Mother! watch the little feet! Climbing o'er the garden wall, Rounding through the busy street, Ranging cellar, shed, and hall, Never count the moments lost, Never mind the moments lost, Little feet will grow astray, Guide them, mother! while you may.

Who is Responsible for Andersonville.
General Butler, if he has not exonerated himself from the charge of opposing the exchange of prisoners during the war, and by so doing causing the death and extreme suffering of thousands of Federal prisoners confined in the Southern prisons, who might have been exchanged and sent home, at least, proved that General Grant was not for relieving the Andersonville victims.

A Few Plain Questions for Radicals.
Is suffrage a natural right?
If so to whom does it naturally belong?
Is there any difference between political and social equality?
Are you in favor of equality?
If so, are you as good as a negro?
And if you are, how long do you expect to remain so?

General Grant was not for relieving the Andersonville victims.
He produces this letter: "CITY POINT, August 13, 1864.
TO GENERAL BUTLER: I am satisfied that the chief object of your interview, besides saying the proper sanction, meets with my entire approval. I have seen from Southern papers, that a system of retaliation is going on in the South, which they keep from us, and which we should stop in some way.

The Ironton Register says there are about to be erected in that place two new iron furnaces, which will turn out 3,000 tons a year each, and will employ about one hundred working men.

The Marietta Register states that a farmer of that vicinity lately cut from a poplar tree seventeen saw logs, thirteen of which were twelve feet long, and four of them ten feet—making one hundred and ninety seven feet of tree—and none of the logs were less than twenty-two inches in diameter.

The Alliance Monitor says the Alliance rolling mill is now turning out railroad iron at the rate of one hundred and eighty rails per day. It is said to be among the best made in the country.

The farm of Mr. Simon Miller, near Canton, was burned last week. It contained 400 bushels of wheat, 50 tons of hay, and the product of 20 acres of barley. The Repository says the fire was no doubt the work of an incendiary.

The papers have it that Prof. Agassiz and the senior class of Harvard are to go to Southern Ohio this season in search of antiquities. Gay times for the boys—how much science?

The Stark County Republican says: Bees have done remarkably well this year. Their owners, in getting twenty-five cents per pound for honey, also do very well.

The Steubenville Herald says there are three hundred coal-diggers out of employment in that city, the coal men having more coal on hands than they can dispose of.
